2014 Hikes & Walks Report

The EACTN hikes and walks 2014 season is almost over, with 12 events originally scheduled starting early May and ending mid-October. We are expecting to end the year at well over 120 person-events, which is somewhat lower than 2013.

Like our golf colleagues, we were impacted by poor weather and rain this season. We had to cancel 3 events, primarily because of weather, but also for lack of interest.

The organizers have scheduled these events every other week, alternating short urban walks on Thursdays with longer, more challenging hikes outside the city on Wednesdays, in the hope of accommodating and drawing as many potential participants as possible. This year we included 2 news hikes in the Oak Ridges Moraine area which were well attended. Another new hike around the Royal Botanical Gardens near Hamilton had to be cancelled.

As in previous years, these events have given us the opportunity to explore areas in and around the city that would otherwise remain unknown to the majority of us. We also tried a few new restaurants.

Again this year, and by far the most popular (and oversubscribed) event was the walking tour guided by our own Jim Arnett. Jim planned the walk to follow as much as possible an old native trail along Davenport Rd. The walk ended at the Brickworks with a delicious lunch at the Belong Café. Jim did a fabulous job researching the history of the landmarks along the way and sharing his knowledge.

With our fifth hikes and walks season coming to a close, and in the spirit of Continuous Improvement, we will incorporate this year's learnings for the next season and – with new hiking areas to be proposed – we hope to see more of you on the trails next year.

Bernard Assouad and David Cox.

2014 Golf Report

Well it was perhaps fitting that we had a rainy day for the tournament. This is supposed to have been our 22nd game this year. We have had to cancel 7 outright and have stopped 5 partway through, plus the tournament..

It started out as a seemingly nice day but the rain started and got worse and it was decided to call it after 9 holes. Everyone gathered for an early dinner (thank you to the Redcrest kitchen and serving staff for accommodating us.)

Due to the shortened game, no prizes were awarded for golfing in the tournament this year. A rain check was issued to all who participated which is good until the end of the 2015 season.

No matter what the weather is, we always enjoy each others company on and off the course. We encourage anyone in the EACTN club to come out next year and join us on the links.

The "Publicity" executive position will be changed starting in 2015 as we have contracted a professional web builder to redo the club's website and utilize a easier to use software, the new website will have new electronic response capabilities. The publicity duties will be redistributed by having the website updates performed by more than one person; the newsletter will be another separate entity as will the mass mailing list maintenance & reminder mail outs.

It's been a fun experience being in the group and Liz and I look forward to attending the wonderful events been planned by your Executive Committee. Thank you for not making fun of my spelling errors over the years !!
